Dear Undo

The August/September issue ended up heavily over-booked, so we had to take the decision to defer some of the articles to the October issue. We took this decision on the grounds of overall editorial balance and decided to include the articles by yourself and Jean Burns (one of the JCS editors) in the October issue.

This means in effect that you will get twice the exposure, as less than half the subscribers have opted to purchase the August/September issue (it is one of the additional supplements), whereas October is a regular issue that goes to all 2300 subscribers. Also if it's any consolation my own piece for the volition issue didn't even get past the referees!

best wishes

Dear Keith

I regard it advantageous for me that my article will be published in a regular issue of the JCS rather than in a supplement.

It is a pity that you had a bad luck with your own paper on volition: I very much like your unorthodox position on the free will problem known to me due to your participation in JCS-online discussions.

With best wishes,

Dear Undo,

Have you received the page proofs I sent last week of your Libertarian Imperative paper?

We hope to go to press in a week's time, so if yuo could email any corrections, that would be helpful.

Yours sicnerely,

Anthony.

Dear Anthony,

I received your letter with the page proofs of my article "The Libertarian Imperative" yesterday (in fact, the letter had arrived in Estonia already 5 days ago). I will check the proofs and will notify you about the results this afternoon.

Yours sincerely,

Undo
